THE VIEWS AT SUPERSTITION NEW EVENT CENTER IN GOLD CANYON

By Alyce O'Keeley

Enter The Views at Superstition, the elegant new conference and event center in Gold Canyon at 6900 E. Highway 60, Suite 204, in Gold Canyon Village and you will be enveloped by the captivating views, through and beyond the magnificent arched panoramic windows. Old World character and elegant décor grace the romantic interior, with exquisite chandeliers, stately Panera stone pillars and handcrafted wooden adornment.

Tracy Machajewski, the owner of this new conference and event center, said, "It is my own dream come true." Machajewski spoke of her 16 years as a stay-at-home wife and mother of 4 sons, now ages 14, 11, 9 and 7. In near-by Apache Junction, she helped her husband, Mike, with their electrical company and occasionally coordinated, weddings and events, "to get me out of the house," she said.

Then, four years ago, she had a dream that began; "If I ever had my own venue."

"Begin with the magic of the Superstitions, add a lot of hard work and support and my dream became The Views at Superstition. Imagine yourself and your guests surrounded with the beautiful panorama of the ever-changing Superstitions. When the ballroom is set up for a wedding, it is absolutely beautiful."

The Views of Superstition prides itself on its exquisite attention to detail, excellence in service and integrity. Affairs include weddings, corporate events, theme parties, anniversaries, graduations, birthday parties, meetings and religious celebrations. The Views at Superstition offers full-service and all-inclusive packages tailored to suit all of your needs. Customize your special day by choosing from packages which include choices from ceremony, reception and catering and provide from butler passed hor d'oeuvres to licensed security guards and everything in between."

The center recently hosted three events in support of the National Day of the Cowboy and several occasions are already booked for 2009-2010. Local organizations that have reserved for their special events include, The Artists of the Superstitions Annual Art Show, Gold Canyon Soroptimists Fundraisers and a number of holiday parties.

Machajewski added, "I am really excited to tell everyone that Jack Frost, the owner of the Gold Canyon Village and I plan to offer a regular calendar of social evenings, open to the public, featuring high-caliber, dynamic music and light entertainment. We plan to have themes for the evenings, such as The 70's, The Beach Boys, Jazz and Rock N Roll, offering tasteful and classy entertainment, easy listening and dancing. Everyone is invited, all ages!"

Machajewski also extends an open invitation to readers to attend her upcoming Sunset Views Open House and Bridal Fashion Show, August 6, 2009 from 6pm to 8:30 pm. "I look forward to the opportunity to meet residents and I encourage them to stop by at our Open House, especially if they are enjoying The Views at Superstition for the first time. We encourage guests to use the elevator, to reach our venue on the second floor."
